Re: Pedro Morago

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Pedro for any Quality Assurance role. I had the opportunity to work with him for over two years at IriusRisk, where he consistently demonstrated a high level of professionalism, attention to detail, and commitment to delivering quality results.

During our time working together, Pedro stood out for his ability to design and execute both manual and automated tests, ensuring product quality throughout the development lifecycle. He has a strong understanding of testing methodologies and modern tools, and he is always eager to improve existing processes.

Throughout his years at IriusRisk, he has shown remarkable adaptability to strategic changes within the organization. Whether it involved transitioning to new testing frameworks or adapting to evolving processes and workflows, he approached each change with a positive attitude and a strong willingness to learn. His ability to quickly get up to speed and contribute effectively in changing environments has been especially valuable to the team.

Pedro is a pleasure to work with. He handles changing priorities with professionalism and flexibility, consistently delivering high-quality results. He is reliable, proactive, and a great team player, always willing to support his colleagues and take on new challenges with a positive attitude.

Pedro has my full recommendation for his continued professional career.

Sincerely,
Victoria López
